

the COLORADO Experiment is a DISASTER

Colorado youth now rank #1 in the nation for marijuana use.

Colorado marijuana-related traffic deaths increased 62% since the drug was legalized for recreational use in 2013.

Large hospital organizations in Colorado are trying to ban pot shops as more newborns are born with THC in their systems.

Marijuana-related hospitalizations have jumped 38% and Emergency Room visits have climbed 29% since legalization.

Crime, homelessness, and drug cartel activity have all increased in Colorado since legalization. State resources otherwise used for those in need are spent on the influx of homeless seeking shelter and services.

"Denver is losing visitors and valuable convention business as a result of these overall safety issues..."

NO GOING BACK

Arizona's 1998 Voter Protection Act means if Prop 205 passes, there is virtually no turning back. The Governor cannot veto it and the legislature cannot repeal it.

What they are saying about the DANGERS of Recreational Marijuana

"I used to support full marijuana legalization. I have nagging doubts these days."

Linda Valdez, Arizona
Arizona doesn't have to release the cat now. We can wait and see how things play out in Colorado and other states that are trying the legalization experiment."

LINDA VALDEZ

ARIZONA REPUBLIC - 06/21/2016

"Only 131 of Arizona's more than 42,000 inmates were in prison for possession of marijuana as of August 2013, according to a 2014 report by the Arizona Prosecuting Attorneys' Advisory Council. And I'd bet that most of those 131 were originally charged with more serious crimes and pleaded down to marijuana possession."

LAURIE ROBERTS

ARIZONA REPUBLIC - 07/08/2016

[Prop 205] gives current medical marijuana dispensaries a greased inside track on the recreational market. It's a naked, self-interested grab for protected market share."
